

Royale Académie de Sciences A Simulation on the Scientific Revolution and Enlightenment

Premise:

The Royale Académie de Sciences is holding its annual banquet to announce the three winners of the Grand Prix membership in the Académie, with all the honors (and opportunity) that such membership affords. As one of the nominees, you will present a brief summary of your research and conclusions in a stimulating presentation to peers. Your presentation may include material from your textbook but should go well beyond it. You may include relevant details from your biography and let your personality come through, but concentrate on your ideas! Submit one copy of your resume by _____. You will need to prepare copies for all members prior to your presentation. Resumes will be published in Who's Who in the Royale Académie de Sciences and be distributed during the awards celebration.

Resume Format

Picture

Name/Address (include your own name)

Job Objective (why should you be chosen as best of the académie)

Qualifications/Life experiences

Employment

Education and Training

*Summary of Major Works

Personal References (at least three quotes from colleagues)

Presentation:

You will be presenting before a live audience. The quality of your presentation will influence the judges. Your presentation must include a multimedia aspect that will help the audience understand your work. This may be in the form of a PowerPoint presentation, video or other multimedia format. Presentation MUST include more than the multimedia aspect.

Nominees:

- | | | | | | |
|---|-------------------------------|----|-------------------|----|---------------------|
| 1 | Nicolaus Copernicus | 7 | René Descartes | 13 | Denis Diderot |
| 2 | Tycho Brahe & Johannes Kepler | 8 | Francis Bacon | 14 | Montesquieu |
| 3 | Galileo Galilei | 9 | Baruch de Spinoza | 15 | Voltaire |
| 4 | Isaac Newton | 10 | Montaigne | 16 | Rousseau |
| 5 | Andreas Vesalius | 11 | Thomas Hobbes | 17 | Adam Smith |
| 6 | William Harvey | 12 | John Locke | 18 | Mary Wollstonecraft |

Attire: Dress for your character. Find an icon or symbol to wear to represent your ideas to differentiate you from other participants. Clothing must meet the school dress code requirements.

 Most important